

Position Announcement

Executive Trainers in Leadership and Management

The Center for Executive Programs and Professional Services (CEPPS) at the American University in Dubai (AUD) has openings for Executive Trainers (course leaders) to participate in the design and delivery of CEPPS programs and courses in leadership, management and related areas.

CEPPS is the business and professional outreach arm of AUD. The mission of CEPPS is to provide top quality executive education, training, professional development and consulting services to private and public sector organizations in the UAE, the GCC region and the wider Middle East. CEPPS programs and services encompass the entire range of expertise resident at AUD and are delivered mainly by AUD faculty who are specialists in the subjects covered in each program or service. However, CEPPS also engages qualified and experienced external consultants to develop and lead executive programs and courses on an as-needed basis.

Required Qualifications

- An earned graduate degree (masters or doctorate) in management from a Western accredited university with a focus on leadership
- Significant work experience (preferably in management consulting)
- Significant experience with a proven track record of effectiveness in leading executive training and professional development programs and courses
- Excellent oral and written communication skills in English (Arabic is a major plus)
